BOOKSTORE NOTES.

It seems that the people at PULP PRESS (publishers of Bommi Baumann's book WIE ALLES ANFING: How It All Began, in english) have spent the summer trying to avoid the Canadian Mounties. It seems that some members of Ottawa's (Canada) House of Common are trying to nail them for printing anarchist literature with government funds. In a letter from a Pulpite to the FE, he says: Yes, the government and especially the media have been a pain in the ass this summer, slamming us with the label 'terrorist publishers' and the like." Sounds like the Canadian government has been looking into Germany's methods of dealing with publishers that they don't like. The Pulper went on to say that things have died down a bit over the last couple of months, but the Vancouver beer strike is still continuing. If you'd like to get a listing of Pulp publications, their address is: Pulp Press, Box 48806 Station Bental, Vancouver, Canada V7X 1A6

We have a big problem. Over the last couple of months, we've lost the addresses of some people who ordered books from us. We have the books here, so if you've never received your order (and you're not too happy about it), drop us a line telling us what books you ordered and we'll mail them right off to you. Sorry!

While on the subject of books. We have no copies of the Cienfuegos Press Anarchist Review no. 4 (but they should be here soon) and Review no. 3 is out of print (we don't know if there'll be a reprint and we have no copies left).
