It is a response to Sanguinetti's On Terrorism and the State: "Autour de sanguinettisme confluent aujourd'hui: les dechets putrides de la decomposition de tout ce qui n'a pas ete depasse et l'atmosphere est empestee par les miasmes fetides de la resignation radicale et du situationnisme parvenus au stade ultime de l'infection, se donnant tous rendez-vous ici pour mettre en oeuvre la plus impitoyable et la plus desesperee de toutes les repressions intellectuelles, disputant tous du systeme le plus efficace pour condamner l'histoire, qui les emmerde."

INDUSTRIALISM & DOMESTICATION by John & Paula Zerzan

A Fifth Estate reprint; it traces developments in the late 18th and early 19th centuries where the rise of capitalism was met by bitter and intense resistance. Its establishment was only effectuated by the imposition of the factory system as a method of social control. The result was a tamed working class and a degradation of labor which lives today at the core of the Marxist conception of socialism.

Black Eye Press 18 pp. $.85

THE POLITICAL ECONOMY OF HUMAN RIGHTS by Noam Chomsky and Edward S. Herman

Vol. I—The Washington Connection and Third World Fascism;

Vol. II—After the Cataclysm: Postwar Indochina and the Reconstruction of Imperial Ideology

A devastating critique of U.S. foreign policy in the Third World and the “free world” media propaganda system which obscures the U.S. support for Third World dictatorships.

THE WANDERING OF HUMANITY by Jacques Camatte

FOUR ARGUMENTS FOR THE ELIMINATION OF TELEVISION by Jerry Mander

One of our favorite books which goes beyond its title and examines the entire spectacular nature of modern society. It argues that television is unreformable and that its problems are inherent in its technology—dangerous to health and sanity, to autonomous and democratic forms of life—that it must be eliminated entirely.

Morrow 371 pp. $5.95

THE REPRODUCTION OF DAILY LIFE by Fredy Perlman

Discusses the mechanism by which human beings continue to reproduce the conditions of our own immiseration. “Men who were much but had little now have much but are little.”

Black & Red 24 pp. $.25

AGAINST DOMESTICATION by Jacques Camatte

Camatte has emerged from the “Hegelian thickets” many have accused him of dwelling in and written a fairly intelligible essay containing many of his basic themes: the domestication of humans by capital, repressive consciousness, the superfluousness of the proletariat, establishment of a human community and others. Several of us who have read it recommend it to those interested in what constitutes at least a portion of the theoretical underpinnings of the Fifth Estate.

Black Thumb 24 pp. $1.50

ZIONISM IN THE AGE OF DICTATORS by Lenni Brenner

One of the books at the heart of the debate on this issue's Letters page. Brenner searches thru the Zionist record and finds evidence that it sought the patronage and benevolence of avowed anti-Semites and, ultimately, the collaboration of the Fascists and Nazis. Shatters many of the myths Zionism has created for itself and for its role in the establishment of Israel.

Lawrence Hill & Co. 277 pp. $7.95

VISION ON FIRE: Emma Goldman on the Spanish Revolution edited by David Porter

Vision on Fire is a carefully chosen collection of Emma Goldman's significant, yet largely unpublished writings from the tumultuous final four years of her life. It is a powerful sequel to LIVING MY LIFE, her well-known autobiography published in 1931. Frankly revealed are her struggles with the deep contradictions of the Spanish Revolution of the late 1930s, her efforts to maintain personal integrity and vision within the heat of passionate involvement. Sexism, violence, a hostile international context, leftist vanguards, common front strategies, creating the new society, and movement organization—all are basic political issues Goldman faced in Spain. Each of them still confronts those today who seek to achieve a new anti-authoritarian society.

Commonground Press 346 pp. $7.50

WALKING by Henry D. Thoreau

Thoreau's classic exposition on the joys of walking through the countryside and how the imposition of civilization intrudes upon it.

Self-published 36 pp. $.50

TELOS: A Quarterly Journal of Radical Thought No. 57 Fall 1983

Telos Press 240 pp. $5.50

ON THE POVERTY OF BERKELEY LIFE and the Marginal Stratum of American Society in General by Chris Shutes

The examination of Berkeley, Calif. as the prototype of life on the margins of capitalist society. An exposure of self-delusion about work, "hip" business, and consumption. Cruel, but fair. Ends with a fairly hopeful chapter on events in South Africa.

Self-published 52 pp. $2.50

THE REVOLUTION OF EVERYDAY LIFE by Raoul Vaneigem

A long out-of-print Situationist International (SI) classic recently re-issued by Rebel Press in England and Left Bank Books of Seattle. This edition has a new translation approved by the author. Vaneigem was one of the founders of the SI and this book was published in 1967, the same year as Guy DeBord's SOCIETY OF THE SPECTACLE; the two works were meant to complement each other. "Written in the street cafes of Paris between 1963-65, THE REVOLUTION OF EVERYDAY LIFE seemed to reflect exactly the mood of the revolutionaries of May '68." From the jacket.

Rebel/Left Bank 216 pp. $6.66
